Trainees Are Not
To Vote On Dec. 1,
Rules Appeal CourtDecision Of Issue Left With Permanent Residents
Of Newmarket And Permanent Camp Training Staff

Decision of Judge T. H. Barton as revising officer that trainees at the Newmarket training camp are not entitled to vote on the question of whether or not Newmarket shall have leverage rooms was upheld by the Ontario court of appeal in a judgment handed down yesterday.

Chief Justice Robertson gave the decision. The appeal was argued by J. R. Cartwright, K.C., Toronto, for Arleigh Armstrong, Newmarket, the appellant, in a hearing in Toronto on Monday.

Roy Kellock, K.C., Toronto, represented the respondent, Newmarket Citizens' League.

The court apparently found that trainees are not entitled to vote, even if they have been resident in Newmarket more than 60 days.

This ruling applies to both active and reserve recruits.

The question whether the permanent staff is entitled to vote was not before the court. About 175 names of the permanent staff were put on the list without objection being made.

Judge Barton will come to Newmarket on Monday to declare the court closed. He had adjourned the court in case the appeal should be allowed.

Townships "Hope" Their Market Town Rejects BeerNORTHERN NEIGHBORS SAY LOCAL OPTION HAS BEEN GREAT BENEFIT

The following resolution, moved and seconded by Mrs. Perry Wingham and Charles Bly, was passed at a meeting at Queensville:

"And resolved, that we, the Sunday-school Association of the combined townships of East and North Gwillimbury and the village of Sutton West, assembled in this our annual convention, having learned that at the Newmarket municipal election a vote is to be taken on the local option by-law, that has been for so many years in successful operation and both from the financial and moral standpoint has been of untold benefit and blessing to not only the citizens and business firms of Newmarket but also to the surrounding municipalities, of which we are a part, Newmarket being our chief market town.

"We therefore take this opportunity of placing on record the hope that the voters of Newmarket will by an overwhelming majority vote to maintain the by-law.

"And further be it resolved that we as an association hereby pledge ourselves personally as opportunity offers to urge upon the voters and especially the business men of the town the importance of not only voting for but of using their influence in sustaining the by-law. And also it is resolved that the secretary be and hereby is instructed to forward to each of the local papers in Newmarket and Sutton West a copy of this resolution for publication.

"And that a copy of the resolution be sent to the council of Newmarket."

A resolution from the Sharon Women's Hobby club before the town council on Saturday afternoon was signed by Mrs. W. H. Wilnot, president, Mrs. L. J. Farr, vice-president, and Miss Lottie Tansley, secretary.

Although they do not live in Newmarket, this is their market town and shopping centre, and in their resolution they speak of "our town," and indicate that they are as much interested in the result as those within the municipal boundaries.

They said that the "establishment of beer parlors and possibly a liquor store" in the town would, in their belief, "lower the morale of the people, especially the young people, the adherents of the military camp and many in the surrounding country." They "believe the money thus spent should be used for the necessities of life and not for drink."

SPEAKS ON PEACE

Rev. J. A. Koffend of Newmarket gave a paper on "Peace" at the Pine Orchard Women's Institute meeting yesterday afternoon.

to the council, expressed the hope that the voters of Newmarket "will not permit the establishment of beverage rooms."

"With the present means of travel these abominations would be within ten minutes motoring of our homes, and they would be a source of temptation and allurements to the youth of both sexes, and to older ones as well," they wrote.

"In war time too much money is being wasted in drink, too many accidents and too much crime.

"In establishing these places of sale your act would not be limited in its results to your own citizens, but they would almost equally work injury to ours and the whole district."

This was signed by Mrs. Wm. Saigle, president, and Mrs. R. Fierheller, secretary.

PRINCIPAL STRESSES

PRESENT PRIZES

Another great night in the life of Newmarket high school was enjoyed by students, staff and public on Friday evening.

Out of 126 provincial papers written by last year's upper school students 123 were passed, Principal J. B. Bastedo stated, after welcoming the public to the commencement exercises.

"Students of the high school have done a great deal of work," said Principal Bastedo. "Some members of the graduating class are now in uniform."

Mr. Bastedo commented that "teaching and learning are two different processes — students have to do a good deal of work themselves, in applying the principles that have been taught."

"Unless a student is here every day he possibly can be, he is likely to fall behind in his work, and become discouraged," was another point made by Mr. Bastedo.

"Grade A commercial diplomas are conspicuous for their absence," Robert Dick, commercial teacher, said. "The reason is too many jobs. The students sacrifice a diploma for a job with a pay-day every week."

"Above all, we have learned to use our own initiative as a tool with which we may solve many of our future problems," Denne (Page 7, Col. 3)

TURN YOUR POCKETS INSIDE OUT
TILL THE BOYS COME HOME

A Barrie soldier returned from overseas has made the following statement concerning the Canadian soldiers in Britain and the present war savings drive:

"Their greatest hardship is boredom, but what really gets them down is when the home paper comes in and reports such things as political squabbles, ineffective recruiting, war effort apathy, etc. If, in your present War Weapons drive, you can show them that you are supporting them 100 percent, it will strengthen their morale no end."

Newmarket people, in this war savings campaign, are determined to show the Newmarket boys "over there" that "we are with them to a man."

NEWMARKET ARTIST
IS AGAIN HONORED

The Royal Canadian Academy of Arts has accepted a painting, "Road to St. Adele, Laurentian Mountains," by R. L. Chadwick, Newmarket, for its 62nd exhibition in Montreal from Nov. 6 to Dec. 4.

This is the second successive year that this honor has come to Mr. Chadwick.

Mr. Chadwick, who has been painting for 13 years, has had pictures hung in several Canadian art shows in Toronto and Montreal.

JOE SMITH BUYS
OPTION ON HOTEL

Joseph Smith, Newmarket tobacconist and billiard-room and bowling-alley operator, has purchased an option to buy the King George hotel in the event of a vote in favor of beverage rooms.

MARKET WOMEN
WANT A CHANGE

The market will be held on Friday afternoons, beginning Friday, Dec. 5, until April, the town council decided on Saturday afternoon.

Councillor Frank Bowser presented to the council a petition signed by 35 farm women. Mr. Bowser was authorized to make the necessary arrangements.

The Saturday morning market makes unnecessarily early rising for the producers in the winter time, it was stated.

GEORGE MCCLURE DIES
IN HIS 72ND YEAR

In failing health for the past ten years, George McClure died of a heart attack at his home on Timothy St. this morning. Mr. McClure had not been feeling very well for the past few days, but never one to complain, went about as usual.

Born in King township on Aug. 18, 1870, he was the son of Mary Ann Irwin and David McClure. Mr. McClure was well-known in King township, where he had farmed all his life until moving to Newmarket 10 years ago, when he first became ill.

He married Mary Ellen Wray of Schomberg on February 20, 1895.

Mr. McClure attended the Anglican church. He was keenly interested in his garden.

The funeral service is being held from the chapel of Roadhouse and Rose on Saturday, at 2:30 p.m., D.S.T. Interment will be made in Newmarket cemetery.

AUTHOR OF BEST-SELLER HAS NEWMARKET UNCLE

Hartzell Spence, author of "One Foot in Heaven," current best-seller, which has been filmed, and is to be found in the Newmarket public library, is a nephew of J. E. Morris, Newmarket.

The story is of the life of the author's father, Rev. Wm. H. Spence, an Ontario Methodist minister.

ASK COUNCILLOR TO TAKE A.R.P. WORK

Councillor A. D. Evans, chairman of the water and light committee, was named by the town council at a meeting on Saturday afternoon to attend a three-day course on A.R.P. work. His expenses will be paid by the town.

Mr. Evans was not present at the meeting. His fellow councillors said that through his hard work for the town he had deserved any honors that might be going.

NOMINATIONS TAKE PLACE FRIDAY EVE

Nominations for election to Newmarket's municipal council take place at the town hall on Friday evening.

Nominations will also be made for three members of the public school board.

N. L. Mathews, K.C., town clerk and solicitor, will preside as returning officer.

So far as is known, all members of the council will again accept nomination. No announcements have been made about new candidates.

In any event, voters will go to the polls on Monday, Dec. 1, to decide the beverage room question.

TRINITY JUNIOR CHOIR WINS CUP FOR 'KEEPS'

Trinity United junior choir took permanent possession of the cup competed for at the annual Hamilton Eisteddfod on Saturday afternoon, by winning it for the third consecutive year. The choir was under the leadership of Illyd Harris and secured 90 marks, which was the highest mark obtained by any group in any class.

The following are the adjudicator's remarks: "unanimity blend balance, very good; accuracy, excellent; tone, excellent in both parts; diction and rhythm, very good; interpretation and general effect, a very devotional performance, indeed just the right atmosphere. The whole was most beautifully done." The adjudicator was J. N. Donson of Toronto.

Firemen's Party Nets
Overseas Fund $150

About $150 for the Newmarket Veterans' overseas parcels fund was realized by Newmarket firemen at a dance and euchre in the town hall on Friday evening.

The event was well patronized. Mrs. W. W. Osborne, new bride of the fire chief, made the draw. She was introduced by Fireman Frank Bowser.

Winners were: euchre, ladies, Frances Tumelty, men, Wm. Blight, lone hands, Mrs. C. Burling, Sgt. A. E. Halligan; draw, Jack Luck, Mr. Innes, Prospect St. L.-Cpl. G. H. Bottomley.

Prizes were awarded in war savings stamps.

"BIG ALEX" WEBSTER
MOVES TO TORONTO

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Webster and family are moving to Mount Dennis, Toronto, next Wednesday. Mr. Webster, who has been a pillar of the softball game in Newmarket, has been employed in Weston for the last five months. The Websters have lived in Newmarket for ten years.

WOULD PREFER BUSINESS IN NO-BEER ROOM TOWN

"If I were going into business tomorrow I wouldn't go to Penetang, I'd go to Midland," Rev. F. G. Magee, representing the Ontario Temperance Federation, said at Trinity United church on Sunday morning.

Mr. Magee explained that Penetang has beverage rooms but that Midland, a few miles away, hasn't. "Women don't like to shop in Penetang," Mr. Magee said.

"I picked up a soldier the other day," the speaker related. "He said that he had recently experienced the unhappiest day of his life. He and his brother, both soldiers, were picked up by a truck on their way to camp. The driver was drunk. There was an accident. The brother was killed, and he had been so injured that he was to be discharged from the army."

JUMPED INTO OCEAN AFTER GERMAN RAID

STORY OF SELLING BY GERMAN SURFACE
RAIDER TOLD

WILL SAIL AGAIN

From a shelled passenger boat into a leaking life-boat and from a life-boat into a shark-infested sea, thence to the hold of a German raider, and then a German prison-ship, running the British blockade, to France and then back to the United States via Spain and Portugal, was the story told by Miss May Armstrong, a middle-aged missionary, at the Free Methodist church on Sunday morning.

Miss Armstrong pictured herself as a fearful woman, "born afraid of almost anything," and particularly of the ocean, but strangely unafraid and calm during her terrible experience. This calm and the saving of herself and her companions, largely missionaries, she attributed to divine intervention.

Her first ocean voyage, on the way to Africa, was in 1917, during the submarine campaign of that time. Her last trip took place in the spring of this year, on the Egyptian ship, the Zam-Zam.

"Among the 200 passengers were 137 missionaries," she said. "We had been on the boat about four weeks when the incident occurred, a few days after Easter. I was lying in my bunk one morning when I heard a severe thud overhead. I was waiting to

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE
THERE'S WAGES

The town council heard a letter from G. L. Manning, managing director of the Office Specialty Mfg. Co., concerning smoke from the plant, at a meeting on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Manning wrote that the company was doing everything possible to deal with the smoke.

"If you have payrolls, you have to have smoke," said Councillor Arleigh Armstrong.

"They're doing a good job," commented Councillor Frank Bowser.

RESIDENT 20 YEARS,
E. J. SMITH DIES AT 82

A Masonic funeral service was held on Monday afternoon for E. J. Smith, who died suddenly at his home on Tecumseh St. early Friday morning, about four hours after coming home from a Masonic lodge meeting. He was in his 83rd year. His quiet, gentlemanly figure was well-known on Main St.

Mr. Smith was born in Port Perry. He was most of his life a commercial traveller in leather and travelled from coast to coast. He had lived in Newmarket nearly 20 years. He retired 15 years ago.

In 1888 he married Mary E. Diamond, who was born in Whitby. Mr. and Mrs. Smith celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in Newmarket on Sept. 5, 1938, when the family were all together for the first time in 25 years.

Mr. Smith was a Mason, a member of Tuscan lodge, Newmarket, and Ionic lodge, Brampton.

He is survived by his wife, two sons, Roy D. and George E., both of Detroit, two daughters, Mrs. Walter Brown (Vera), Belleville, and Mrs. G. L. MacPherson (Lillian), Mount Forest, eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The funeral service, held at the chapel of Roadhouse and Rose, was conducted by Rev. Arthur Greer and Dr. A. E. Rummels. Members of Tuscan lodge took part.

Followers were members of the family. Burial was made in St. John's cemetery (Norway), Toronto, where members of the Brampton Ionic lodge took part in the service.

CALLING ALL VETERANS!

"Calling all Veterans!" says Secretary Jack Duffield. "Not to the cookhouse, but to be on the look-out for the next general meeting of the Newmarket Veterans' Association, to be held in the bugle band hall on Thursday, Nov. 27, at 8 p.m. Let us have a good turn-out."

War Padre Speaks,
Band Gives Concert
On Sunday EveningTown Council Sponsors Patriotic Meeting On Sunday Evening, Scouts and Guides Will Attend

TWO UNIVERSAL CARRIERS COME

Two universal carriers will come to Newmarket from Camp Borden Saturday noon and remain here all day Sunday, in promotion of the War Weapons campaign and the patriotic meeting in the town hall on Sunday evening.

This has been arranged through the courtesy of Brigadier-General E. C. McCuaig, officer commanding at Camp Borden.

Two universal carriers monthly are Newmarket's objective in the savings campaign, and Newmarket citizens will have a chance to see what they are "gunning at."

A patriotic demonstration to be held in the town hall after church on Sunday evening is being sponsored by the town council.

The evening will be in support of the War Weapons campaign. Newmarket Citizens' band will give a concert. Miss Gwen Lambert will sing. Rev. Dr. Ronald McLeod, Toronto, a Great War padre, will be the special speaker. Dr. McLeod was formerly the pastor of a large Rosedale congregation, and is now public relations director for an industrial concern.

Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales will be the chairman and he will be supported on the platform by Reeve F. A. Lundy and members of the council, P. J. Tod and W. L. Bosworth, co-chairmen of the War Weapons campaign for Newmarket and East Gwillimbury, H. M. Gladman, vice-chairman for Newmarket, Garry Thompson, Holland Landing, vice-chairman for East Gwillimbury, the clergy, and other representative citizens of Newmarket and neighboring townships.

Newmarket Veterans Association are providing ushers for the occasion. Boy Scouts and Girl Guides will be in attendance.

Captains and canvassers in the war savings drive are planning to be present and take a full share in the rally.

"You who are blessed with every benefit of British citizenship must and will, I am sure, make this demonstration an overwhelming success," says Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales in a message to citizens.

Brewery Truck Burning Up
Gasoline Burns Padre UpCONSCRIPTION OF MONEY AND MEN ADVOCATED
BY VISITOR

"When the country's at war why don't we conscript its resources, wealth and manpower?" demanded Rev. W. L. Lawrence, Toronto, Great War padre and former pastor of Trinity United church, at the Memorial night at Tuscan Masonic lodge on Thursday evening.

"I drive along the highway and meet a Labatt's brewery truck, burning gasoline all the way from London," Mr. Lawrence said in the course of his address. "Why should that sort of business be permitted in wartime?"

Mr. Lawrence made it clear that he was concerned with the economic waste in war-time, that he was not an extremist. "Don't misunderstand me," he said. "I have seen men knee-deep in frozen slush on active service. The only thing that kept them alive was their ration of rum, but that has nothing to do with people swilling in it."

Worshipful Master Allan Mills presided. Rev. Dr. A. E. Rummels, another Great War padre, said the prayer of remembrance. Wm. Greig played the Last Post and, after two minutes silence, the Reveille.

Guests from the military camp contributed to the program.

DOWN THE CENTRE

Markham Aces received a bad blow to playing strength the other day when Nick Bangay, the junior member of the Bangay clan, who developed into a top-ranking defenceman towards the end of last season, and Ronnie Rowe, the rookie forward who played brilliant hockey, signed the old John Hancock to the playing certificates of Marlboro juniors in A company. Both boys have what it takes to make good, too. New recruits to the Markham team are two forwards, one from Lindsay and the other from Bolton, but we don't think they'll measure up to the above named duo.

Bob Bangay has signed with one of the commercial teams in the west Toronto mercantile. Don't know why Marlboro seniors, who are said to be understaffed, haven't given him a tumble. Bob was good enough for junior A and poison around the nets, even tho' he didn't like back-checking.

Volleyball and badminton will be about the headline sports attraction at Richmond Hill this season. The two sports are both growing steadily in favor. Business and professional men are favoring the former, while the younger set are the bird enthusiasts.

Agincourt lost its rink the other day, as it was sold and is being demolished. Curling and bush league hockey will be the two sufferers. We mention Heather rink solely because we recall some soul-stirring battles there with the Scarboro juniors team of other years and the irrepressible Bill Davis, who dearly loved to battle with Bert Tunney and Ewart Pinder. In the plait-zed rink such boys as Dick Schach, the Bangays, Dyson and many more boys got their start.

Speaking of rinks going the way of all flesh, you will recall that we told you earlier that Kitchener, one of the former big strongholds of amateur hockey, was to be without a rink this year and would drop from O.H.A. hockey, juke-boxes and jitterbugs now occupying the old auditorium. This week we received word from the twin cities that Bobby Bauer, a Kitchener boy and a member of the famous Kraut line of the Boston Bruins, had made a real sporting gesture. When he learned his native city was to be without a covered rink, the redoubtable Bobby looked at his bankroll and then offered to hand over $1,000 to keep the rink going. It wasn't sufficient in itself and no central fund was started, so it went for naught. Hockey has provided a financially secure future for Bauer and he was ready and willing to recognize he owed his community something and to give other young fellows a chance to follow in his footsteps. Moreover, he is a newlywed of only a few weeks and has just set up his own household.

Larry Molyneux has definitely taken over the coaching job at Barrie and has had his squad on the ice at Owen Sound this week. Larry has a real job on his hands, considering the group competition, but is counting on obtaining help from the troops at Camp Borden. There is generally a raft of players of junior age there, but it's hard to keep them for the whole season. North Yorkers join in wishing Molly the best of luck in his new venture. Barrie, judging from past seasons, is not a place, however, where coaches linger if they don't produce pay dirt.

Bill Wilson, the former Aurora junior, has switched to the Hollinger team this season in the N.O.H.A. and at present they appear about the weakest team in the group. It's a long season, however, and Bill at any rate is not letting his team down, for he's off to a good start.

Red McArthur, the North Bay flash who was one of the Redman dominion titleholders of '32, is a teammate. Red was one of the best scorers of the loop last year. Normie Woon, another Newmarket Redman of other days, is with Dome in the same group. Remember the fight between Aurora and Newmarket back over ten years ago to get the Coldwater boy to come south, and how he wound up in canal-town the day he was to start work here? Woon is still playing capable hockey.

Sparky Vall is with McIntyre in the same circuit and much heavier than in junior days. He is a dangerous rusher still from his defence post. Herbie and Ossie Carnegie, the two colored lads from Willowdale, who are well-known throughout North York, are with Ankerite, so with at least six former favorites playing in the far north, perhaps you'll keep an eye on the box scores.

Pep Kelly, who has dropped out of the majors, is playing a fine game for New Haven. In fact, he won them a game almost single-handed. Once again he is reunited with his old teammate, Regis was just about the most popular of the old Redmen team. Claude Pollock of Keswick ran a fine race on Saturday in the St. Andrew's cross-country run to place third. He was close behind the winner, John Ballon of Montreal. Pollock is a good boxer, too. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Pollock. Don Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hamilton, Aurora, finished 10th in the same race.

Sutton Greenhills will be back in the O.H.A. picture with another fine team from all reports. Ellis Pringle and Frank Kaiser have been busy scouting players. Mickey Smith is being sought to replace Leon Smith, who went on active service. Jack Culverwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Culverwell, is also with the team. Phil Vitale, the big husky hardballer, is also playing with this outfit, when he gets away from duties at Newmarket training camp. George Scott, another former Aurora junior, is with the soup entry in the league as is his brother, Fred, who performed for North York A.C. intermediates.

Earl Fox of Etobicoke, Jack Culverwell, Shepstone, Brandon and Gardiner of Sutton are also playing with teams in the group. Joint McComb made his debut as centre for Indians in the Varsity league on Saturday night and while he didn't get any scoring points he was going in his old-time form.

Wild Bill Roberts, who drew many a cheer as he bashed them down for the Newmarket Redmen intermediates a few years back, is with the newspaper entry in the major T.H.L. series. Bill was in the army but honorably discharged last year.

Aurora juniors are once again entered in the S.P.A. series and, while we don't look for a title, the boys can be counted on to give a good account of themselves. They hope to take the ice at Ravina prior to the series opening. Class B and C teams are entered in the same round and they will get underway around Dec. 1. Etobicoke, Oakville, Markham, Barrie, Upper Canada College, St. Catharines, U.T.S., St. Michael's College, Caledonia and Stratford are a few of the teams entered. Charlie Rowntree will soon be plenty busy sorting out the wheat from the chaff.

Howard Polliott, last year's senior champion at Aurora high school, and a fine soccer, basketball, softball and hockey player, has joined the R.C.A.F. Howard was also cadet captain at Aurora high school. Last year he performed for the Schomberg-King O.H.H.A. entry and his enlistment makes the fourth or fifth of last year's team to depart to the armed forces.

Ken Brown, the dynamic forward of the same team, will not be available either, as he is now engaged on war work in Toronto and taking an N.C.O.'s course with the Queen's Yorks in his spare time.

Bradford definitely will be entered again, but what their opposition will be is not yet known. Thornton are out, Cooks town and Bolton haven't enough players, so the South Simcoe stars may be forced to hook up with the league that performs at Bolton arena.

Harry Couse is back home at Thornton and will likely play for Bradford this year. We learned something we had failed to notice after watching this boy closely for two years. Couse has a delivery like nobody else in softball and it has been sometimes questioned for legality, altho' personally we never even considered this. However, Couse has a crook in his arm as the result of an accident he sustained as a kid. It is not very noticeable but that's the reason he has that odd appearing last delivery movement. Harry put in two months at Newmarket camp last fall and his arm may or may not keep him out of the active army.

Bob Bond, home from Kingston for the weekend, dropped in to chortle that the Kingston Garrison team had made Pepper Martin and the Queen's U junior team bite the dust last week. The soldier boys are older, but haven't the practice sessions of the university lads. Looking over the army team we noticed such stars as Manson, Drinkwater and McNutty, all former Balm Beach stars. Guess a pretty good team in any line of sport could be found at any military centre.

Teddy Graham, first sports officer at Newmarket camp and former N.H.L. defenceman and later referee, was among the Canadian troops recently landed in England.

Tam Mauriello fought Gus Lesniewicz the other night and we listened with curious others to about the best fight broadcast we ever heard. That's a pair we would really like to see tangle and for a little bout it produced oodles of action. Early in the fight Mauriello looked as if he was finished, but Pete Reilly, a wily New York boxing coach, pulled a new experiment. Reilly had a small oxygen-tank as one of his accoutrements and he kept giving Tam doses. It worked wonders. Too, for the Bronx boy came back strong. We can probably expect to see this gadget used from now on in boxing and football and maybe when Jimmy Walker and Charlie Rowntree start buying equipment for their hockey team they'll include this item on the "must" list. A few shots of oxygen and the boys won't be dragging, but flying on all sixes.

Pottageville

Mr. and Mrs. Elias Paton and son, William, spent Saturday evening in Aurora with their son, Mr. Elwin Paton.

The sympathy of the community goes out to Mrs. Harry Shanks, Mrs. Lester Fizzell and Ward Cook in the loss of their father, Robert Cook, who passed away on Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. George West and family spent Sunday afternoon in Toronto with Mr. West's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Messenger and family, of Malton, spent Sunday with friends around Pottageville.

KING FARM FOLK HOLD RADIO FORUMS

The two farmers' radio forums in this community met on Nov. 10 for the first meeting of the autumn series.

The south group met at the home of Laurine Dobb and the north group at the home of Mae Harman. The groups are anxious to help with the organization of new forums in nearby communities and there was much discussion of various methods of organization.

On Nov. 17 the north group meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Baldwin and the south group meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Beynon discussed "Food for the people."

It was felt that agriculture is definitely of national importance "because we must maintain a supply of food for ourselves, the fighting forces and our allies, as well as hold out an inducement to the subject peoples of Europe."

The north group concluded that "because of the scarcity of farm labor and the great spread between the price the farmer receives for his products and the price he must pay for the goods he buys, the trend in this community is to decrease production."

There were 25 in attendance at the meeting of the south group, including some interested guests from Jefferson.

On Nov. 24 the groups will discuss "The farmer must live." Anyone is welcome to attend the meetings and information may be obtained from the secretaries, Mrs. Nelson Thompson and Mae Harman.

Mrs. Ray Jennings and Mae Harman were guests at a meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams on Nov. 17. They helped with the organization of Copsons' Corners farmers' radio forum, of which Ed. Reddick was elected secretary. It was a very enthusiastic meeting and an interesting series is anticipated.

Elton Armstrong has been appointed by the York County Federation of Agriculture to organize forums in King township.

A duet was sung by Misses Arlene Grose and Edna Pegg.

Ravenshoe

Rev. Gordon Lapp gave an inspiring message at Ravenshoe United church last Sunday. There was a good crowd present. It is hoped that the numbers will increase now that the busy season is over.

The Sunday-school was well attended. There should be an improvement in the school as a result of the fall training class held in Queensville, Keswick and Sutton to help in Sunday-school work.

On Monday morning Jack Frost was here in real form and froze the ground too hard for the plow in many places. It was good-bye to the flowers in the gardens which have bloomed until now.

The Ladies' Aid of Ravenshoe United church will hold their monthly tea on Wednesday, Nov. 20. The hostesses will be Mrs. Will King and Mrs. Wm. McClure. Rev. Gordon Lapp will give an outline of his recent trip to the west.

Why We Are Opposed To The Establishment Of Beverage Rooms In Newmarket

Viewpoint No. 1

Viewpoint No. 2

1. Newmarket is not now "dry." There is a substantial quantity of alcoholic liquor consumed in Newmarket now, some of it legally, some of it illegally. Beverage rooms would radically increase the total consumption, but they would not turn a "dry" town into a "wet" town.

2. Drinking is not necessarily unpatriotic. It is undoubtedly patriotic to give up liquor or any other luxury to make more money available for the war effort, but not to do so is no more unpatriotic than not to give up other luxuries.

3. In short, this is just a question of whether Newmarket is to have beverage rooms or not. It is not a "temperance" question, a question as to whether or not people should drink, either moderately or excessively.

4. Opposition to the beverage rooms should not be based on moral or patriotic or hysterical grounds, but just on the knowledge that beverage rooms in Newmarket would increase alcoholic consumption to probably three times what it is now, representing an increased expenditure on alcoholic drinks of probably at least $2,000 a week, and maybe twice that figure, compared with about $1,000 now. The question is: Can we afford it?

1. There is no "prohibition" in Newmarket. You can consume alcoholic drinks legally in your own home or a friend's home. You can legally have as small a quantity as half a dozen pints of beer costing about a dollar delivered to your home.

2. It is not a question of "personal liberty." Even with beverage rooms and a liquor store established in Newmarket, you could not legally consume beer or liquor on the street or in your car or buy a glass of beer after closing time.

3. Beverage rooms do not eliminate bootleggers. Perhaps bootleggers will vote against beverage rooms, but experience shows that bootleggers thrive, particularly after closing hours, in beverage-room towns. To some extent beverage rooms create customers for the bootleggers.

4. Beverage rooms do not represent a system of government control as against a system of illicit and secret drinking. Most of the drinking in Newmarket is legal. There is a good deal of illegal drinking, but our police have reduced this to a minimum. On the other hand, in beverage room municipalities there is little "control" of drinking. Requests from municipal councils as to hours and the opening of new beverage rooms have been turned down by the Liquor Control Board, which is generally agreed to be more interested in increasing consumption than in decreasing it.

5. Increased motor accidents accompany increased consumption of alcoholic drinks. Beverage rooms, unlike drinking at home, encourage people to drive after drinking.

With one of these two viewpoints, setting out some of the questions we have discussed with each other recently, you may find yourself in agreement. In either case, you will be opposed, as we are, to the establishment of beverage rooms. Should that be your decision, mark an "X" opposite the "No" on the ballot.

Don't spoil your ballot. Do not put any mark on your ballot but an "X"

Are you in favor of the sale of beer and wine under the provisions of the Liquor Control Act?

YES

NO X

If you are opposed to the establishment of beverage rooms in Newmarket, you should mark an "X" opposite the "NO" as above.

POLICE COURT MOTORIST FINED $10 FOR HITTING FREIGHT

Stealing chickens is a serious offense, Donald Beemer, Bellhaven, learned when in Newmarket police court Tuesday he was sentenced by Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe to one year in prison, hard labor.

The defendant, who last week was found guilty of stealing poultry valued at $72 from Frank Marritt, Keswick, had been remanded in custody for one week, during which time he made restitution.

Asked by his worship if he had anything to say for himself, the defendant pleaded that he was given "some kind of a chance" he "would join the army and go straight."

"You have a long record," stated his worship, "I am going to take into consideration that you have made restitution and I'm not going to give you as long a sentence as I had intended. However, I look at stealing chickens in this country as a serious offense."

The 17-year-old Newmarket youth who spent a week in jail after he had been found guilty in police court last week of stealing $42.07 from T. F. Doyle, Newmarket merchant, while working as delivery boy, was placed on probation for one year.

"You will have to pay back the money you stole and pay costs as well," Magistrate Woodliffe told him.

Magistrate Woodliffe placed Weldon Graham, Bradford, on suspended sentence after he found him guilty of giving Lieve Boomstra, Holland Marsh, a worthless cheque for $22.40. He had made restitution.

"I am taking into consideration that you have never been in court before and am placing you on suspended sentence upon payment of costs," Magistrate Woodliffe told Mr. Graham. "Don't give any more worthless cheques."

His worship dismissed a charge of speeding against the Star Taxi Ltd., Toronto, when the driver, W. Brown, denied that he had been in Newmarket on Nov. 3. He admitted that he had come as far as Aurora with a passenger but said that he had turned back from there.

Constable Kenneth Mount, Newmarket, who took the license number of the taxi, testified that he saw the car on Eagle St. and that the driver stopped the car at a relative's on that street.

Called to the stand, Fred Waites, Aurora, told his worship that he had hired the taxi to bring him to Aurora for $3.50 and that he saw the car turn around at the gas-line station in Aurora and head back to the city.

Found guilty of dangerous driving in the early morning of Oct. 12, when his car was in collision with a freight train near the village of Zephyr, Garnet Risebrough, Mount Albert, was fined $10 and costs.

"I arrived at the scene of the accident at about 2.30 a.m.," testified County Constable Ronald Watt. "On my arrival I found a 1928 car sitting on the north side tracks, on the west side of the road. Both head-lights and the radiator were smashed and the whole body of the car was twisted. I found out from the railroad agent the name of the owner of the car. Later I saw the driver, Garnet Risebrough, in York County hospital."

"At what time did you see him?" asked N. L. Mathews, K.C., for the crown.

"Between 3 a.m. and 3.15 a.m. the same morning," replied the officer. "I questioned him regarding the accident and he stated that he and three companions had been to a dance at Pefferlaw and coming home they approached the crossing. He said that he could not see the freight train until he came up to it. He said that he attempted to avoid hitting it and went through the guard-rails into the train."

"Did he give any explanation why he did not see the train?" questioned the crown.

"The only explanation he gave was that he did not see the freight train until he was quite close and tried to avoid hitting it."

Asked by the crown if the crossing is visible for a distance, the officer replied that it was. "There is a 300-foot clearing north of the track, a 300-foot clearing south of the track and a 1,000-foot clearance east and west," he stated.

The officer informed his worship that the night was clear with no fog and that when he appeared on the scene he could see ahead 500 feet.

Questioned as to the amount of damage done to the Risebrough car and the extent of the injuries sustained by the passengers, Constable Watt said that the defendant had received injuries to his forehead and hands, and that John Lunau, a passenger, had to have medical attention at the hospital for cuts about the mouth.

He stated that the other passengers had received but minor injuries. The car was damaged to the extent of $150.

When called to the stand, Mr. Risebrough told his worship that the night had been foggy and that he did not see the train until he was about ten feet away. He said that he had been driving at about 25 miles an hour.

"I never saw the train until it was right on it," he stated. "I put on my brakes but it was too late."

According to John Lunau, one of the passengers, there is brush on either side of the road. He said that he saw the train about the same time as the defendant saw it and called out, "there is a train."

He said that when Mr. Risebrough put on the brakes the car went to the right, broke off two guard-rails and hit the train.

Roy Lunau, another passenger in the defendant's car at the time of the accident, testified that the place where the accident occurred is usually foggy, as it is "a low wet swamp."

According to Herbert Curtis, Barrie, conductor of the freight train, the accident occurred at the second crossing south of Zephyr, which is a water station. He said that he did not see the defendant's car before the collision, but that later, after the accident, he saw two passengers get out of the defendant's car and that they said that they had been asleep. He stated that the car collided with

The 36th car of the train from the engine. He added that there were lights on the engine and caboose.

Questioned as to the weather conditions on the night in question, the witness stated that it was clear about the tracks.

"I am not satisfied with your story that there was a fog or mist," Magistrate Woodliffe told the defendant. "However, if there was, you had no business going 25 miles an hour. If it was clear you should have seen the train at least 200 feet ahead."

For failing to have flares on his car Joseph Ganton, Hillsdale, was fined $5 and costs.

Capt. W. J. Smith, Camp Borden, and Eldred L. Newland, Toronto, were each fined $10 and costs for travelling at 65 miles an hour on Yonge St. Ralph P. Clark, Armitage, 7 Up of Ontario Ltd., Toronto, John McNabb, Roche's Point, and Malcolm Clark, Toronto, each fined $5 and costs.

WHITCHURCH PEOPLE DISAPPROVE PROPOSAL

A group of church workers and officials of Whitchurch township have forwarded to The Era a copy of a protest to the voters of Newmarket and the Newmarket town council. Signatures on the petition are those of Joseph A. Koffend, pastor, and James Hope, superintendent, of Pine Orchard Union church, Elma M. Starr, president, and Jacob M. Grove, secretary-treasurer, of Whitchurch township Sunday-school Association, W. A. Westcott, pastor, and R. J. Carr, superintendent, of Wesley United church, Vandonor.

The protest follows: "Whereas the Sunday-schools are training schools for the churches; and

"Whereas adults should not expect more of youth than the examples they themselves set them; and

"Whereas home happiness, civilized behavior and even the apprehension of God, all suffer a measure of eclipse by the use of alcoholic beverages; and

"Whereas damaging as the alcohol is in such beverages by reason of waste, accident, disease and loss of skill, the major accusation against it is its assault on human personality, and the resulting deterioration and moral degradation of character, and that often in the lives of brilliant promise; and

"Whereas we feel that the establishment of places for sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages are temptations and stumbling-blocks to all that Sunday-schools teach and work for;

"Therefore we as representatives of the Sunday-school Association of the Whitchurch township

In the interests of

War Weapons Campaign

under the auspices of

THE MAYOR AND COUNCIL, LOCAL CLERGY, NEWMARKET CITIZENS' BAND, NEWMARKET VETERANS' ASSOCIATION AND OTHER PATRIOTIC ORGANIZATIONS.

HEAR

REV. DR. RONALD McLEOD, TORONTO

Great War Padre and widely known patriotic speaker

Citizens of Newmarket and district: This is a long-awaited opportunity for you to hear a great speaker on the progress of the war and by your presence to manifest your appreciation of the increasing share which Canada must take in this protracted struggle.

You who are blessed with every benefit of British citizenship must and will, I am sure, make this demonstration an overwhelming success, and show again your leadership in this patriotic campaign.

Newmarket expects this hall to be filled to capacity for this important meeting. Let us show to all our steadfast and unfaltering attitude in this world crisis.

L. W. DALES, MAYOR.

WINNERS MAY SEE "DIVE BOMBER," OR MAYBE THEY'D PREFER TO SEE THE MARX BROTHERS

The five winners of last week's scrambled word contest are as follows: Mrs. John Boag, 34 Prospect St., Newmarket, Mrs. Robert Rose, R. R. 1, Kettleby, Mrs. Ernest Winter, Newmarket, Joan MacArthur, Newmarket, and Dorothy Thompson, 150 Main St., Newmarket.

These five winners were drawn by Mrs. W. C. Lundy, Newmarket business woman, from 57 who sent in the correct answers. There were additional answers that arrived too late (after Tuesday morning at 9:30 a.m., D.S.T.) or were incorrect.

The ten unscrambled words were: sacrifice, approximately, overcoat, upholstered, purchaser, battery, permanent, dressers, cockerels and housekeeper.

The winners receive double passes to the Strand theatre for next Tuesday evening, to see Errol Flynn and Fred MacMurray in "Dive Bomber" and Tommy Trinder and Jean Colin in "Laugh it Off," or for next Thursday evening, to see the Marx Brothers in "The Big Store" and Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., co-starring in "Gunga Din." The Thursday program has been changed since last week.

Passes may be obtained by the winners any evening at the theatre or on the night they attend the show.

THIS WEEK'S CONTEST

The five winners of this week's contest will receive double passes to the Strand for Tuesday, Dec. 2, or Thursday, Dec. 4. On Dec. 2 the program is George Formby in "Come on George" and Jackie Cooper and Jean Reynolds in "Gallant Sons." On Dec. 4 the program is Robert Montgomery and Ingrid Bergman in "Rage in Heaven" and Ginger Rogers and Jas. Stewart in "Vivacious Lady."

Last week when the words were jumbled all the 's' were left out—so watch yourselves and be sure that all your ten words can be found in the classified ads. Even if you make a perfectly good word out of the jumbled letters, it won't be right unless it's in the classified columns.

Here are the jumbled words: eolcon, ulnbe, inelc, rulednh, aotocodimcnma, Heubal, alaeeyll, ignpr, genwl, otefr.

WANT-ADS

The rate for Want Ads is 25 cents for 25 words for one insertion; 40 cents for two insertions; 50 cents for three insertions. For over 25 words, each additional word, one insertion, one cent, additional insertions, one-half cent per insertion.

In Memoriam

Blair—In loving memory of Henry Blair, who died Nov. 19, 1938.

O happy hours we once enjoyed. How sweet their memory still. But death has left a loneliness. The world can never fill.

Sadly missed by wife and family.

Graves—In loving memory of a dear mother, Rosie Emma Graves, who passed away Nov. 18, 1937.

When days are dark and friends are few. Dear mother, how we think of you. Friends are friends, if they are true. We lost our best friend when we lost you.

Always remembered by daughter, Helen, and Bert.

Graves—In loving memory of a dear mother, Rosie Emma Graves, who passed away Nov. 18, 1937.

There is a son who misses you sadly. And finds the time long since you went. And I think of you daily and hourly. But try to be brave and content. But the tears that I shed in silence. When I think of the pain you suffered. For God knew best when He called you home. Where you could have sweet rest.

Sadly missed by son, Delbert, and Frances.

CHURCHES

CONGREGATIONAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Sunday, Nov. 23

Pastor—REV. ARTHUR GREER
11 a.m.—RUTH (2)
7 p.m.—MEDICINE FOR YOUR MISERY.

2:30 p.m.—Sunday-school
On Sunday evening, Nov. 30, the Toronto Bible College choir will conduct the evening service.

FREE METHODIST CHURCH
Millard Ave.

Pastor: REV. B. BABCOCK
Our need today is a revival of old-time religion, when the Holy Spirit poured out on the church quickens her, so that her influence will be felt by the careless sinner. Will you not join us in prayer and attendance at our meetings in the Free Methodist church, that this may come to our town?

Special meetings begin Nov. 30, with Rev. J. W. Potter as evangelist. He is an old-time Methodist preacher, preaches in tears and under the anointing of the Holy Spirit.

Meetings will continue each evening except Saturday, Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., until Dec. 14.

We are not relying on the arm of flesh (it will fail us) but we humbly acknowledge our dependence on Him who alone can save men. Please come, if you can, if not, pray anyway. Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, day and forever.

Special singing by our locals.

Funeral services were held last Thursday for Mrs. James T. Stewart, who died at her home, Harding boulevard, Birch Cliff, on Monday evening of last week, after a short illness. Mr. Stewart is the clerk of Scarborough township, and is well-known in York county. Mrs. Stewart was 70 years old.

MARIAN BURKHOLDER IS NOVEMBER BRIDE

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the United church parsonage, Queensville, on Nov. 13, when Ethel Marian Burkholder, daughter of Mr. W. A. Burkholder of Queensville and the late Mr. Frederick Kenneth Dew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dew of Queensville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hugh Shannon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by Miss Gladys Dew, sister of the groom. The best man was Mr. Wm. A. Burkholder, Jr., brother of the bride.

Following a trip to North Bay and other points Mr. and Mrs. Dew are residing in Queensville.

ARE WED AT FULL MILITARY CEREMONY

The first full military wedding at Scarborough took place last Saturday evening in Birch Cliff Heights United church, when Edna Gilliam of the C.W.S.F., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gilliam of Toronto, and sister of Mrs. George Haskett of Newmarket, became the bride of Pte. Robert Green of the Ontario Tank Regiment, Brantford, son of Mrs. Arthur Green of Teeswater.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by Miss Margaret Rutherford of the C.W.S.F. and the best man was Cpl. Sherman Day of Brantford, a former Newmarket boy. Rev. Mr. Bamford performed the ceremony.

Platoon Commander Gough and members of the C.W.S.F. formed a guard of honor outside the church.

Following a reception held at the home of the bride's mother, the young couple left for a honeymoon trip to Teeswater. They will reside in Brantford.

ART APPRECIATION WILL BE MEETING TOPIC

The Newmarket branch of the Home and School Association will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday at 8 p.m. sharp, at the Stuart Scott school on Lorne Ave.

A business meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Mr. Purdy's classroom.

To those interested in art and music this meeting will afford a most enjoyable evening.

Miss Marion Gallie, well-known at the Toronto Art Galleries, will bring to Newmarket many fine pictures from the art galleries and will speak on art appreciation. Local artists will also exhibit their paintings. The coming artists, pupils in the Newmarket public schools, will display a fine collection of their work.

During the evening a presentation will be made of a good picture, suitably framed, to the classroom having the greatest percentage of paid parent members of the Home and School Association.

H. A. Jackson's orchestra will supply the instrumental music for the evening. Major J. H. Craig of the Newmarket military camp will give solo selections. Refreshments will be served in the household science room.

EXECUTIVE MEETS HERE

At a meeting of the executive of the North York Temperance Federation, held in the Christian church Sunday-school rooms on Tuesday afternoon, Dr. J. C. Wilson of Richmond Hill, the president, presided.

The date for the oratorical contest, sponsored by the federation, was discussed, but no date was definitely set. A report of the convention, held recently, was given and discussed.

DOWN ON THE FARM

"How are things down on the farm?"

"Well, dad's going quite well on his barbecue stand, but he's just about breaking even on his gas and oil."

HEAR OF MISSIONARY WORK ON HUDSON BAY

Rev. W. G. Walton of Toronto conducted the services at St. Paul's church on Sunday.

Mr. Walton spent 32 years as missionary to the Eskimos and Indians on the east shore of the Hudson Bay, and he gave a talk at both services on his work there, as well as to the Sunday-school scholars in the afternoon.

In the evening his subject was "The Power of Prayer," which he showed by numerous personal experiences during his life work in that far Arctic region. Rev. T. H. Cotton, D.D., will take charge of the services next Sunday.

St. Paul's W.A. held their monthly devotional and business meeting last Thursday in the chapel. Mrs. Macleod, the president, kept it along Armistice Day week, and the secretary, Mrs. Arthur Evans

UP THE GATINEAU IN THE AUTUMN

BY R. R. MCMATH

This is a lovely November morn. We have spent the night away up the Gatineau. This house is almost on the bank of the river.

To this same parsonage have come many ministers down through the years. In turn their children have grown up and gone out to fill a large place in the services of this fair dominion. Our bedroom window looks towards the southeast, giving us a good view of the Gatineau.

As I looked out this morning I saw the large body of pulpwood logs making their way down the river. All night long while we were sleeping these logs went sailing past. It was most interesting to wake up and watch them. As I did so, I suddenly recalled a phrase of Nellie McClung's which I remember so well, "Nature hath her own Red Cross," and it helped me to coin another, "Nature hath her own transportation."

The logs go solo, in duets, in trios and larger groups. They just cling together like ivy to the old garden wall. When I remarked to friends how they hurry on downstream I heard one say, "any dead fish can go with the stream." True, it can, but isn't it good they do? Thus they are washed out to sea and do not become a nuisance. The best of life isn't always rowing against the stream. One enjoys floating.

Down the way a little the river bends and some of the logs lock in the bend. There they hook on to one another and interesting formations take place. Most interesting is the number of letters of the alphabet which are formed.

Today we drove down the highway by the riverside as far as Ottawa. What a magnificent drive! The trees, of course, were minus their autumnal shading, but the scene nevertheless was glorious. The river was like a sheet of mirror, reflecting the hills and evergreens which stood sentinel on the opposite side. The distant hills told their own story of the ages and as one thought of the strong defence they would offer against the onslaught of a Hitler, the psalmist's words became familiar, "I to the hills will lift mine eyes from whence cometh my help."

As we drove along it was exciting to see the loggers walking the boom which they were attempting to form. I am told that soon the logs will be stopped in view of "freeze up", so the men are busy catching them and forming large booms, and hurrying their movement.

Along the highway there is much transportation—trucks of lumber and truckloads of wood hurrying to the city and empty trucks hurrying back to be reloaded. In the little village where we are staying the highway, waterway and railway meet and all are busy carrying great loads to and fro. Some of it is sealed and secret movement, having to do with the country's war interest. Whilst the movement of wood is in plain view of all and sundry yet it is a patriotic function to use it, relieving shipping for other purposes than transporting coal.

A hurried drive around the capital and we ventured the return journey north. What an appreciation one had of the charm of Canada, set in glorious sunshine on a fair November day.

When sun rays crown thy pine clad hills,
And autumn spreads her hand,
When silver voices tune thy rills,

We love thee, smiling land,
As loved our fathers, so we love;
Where once they stood, we stand;
Their prayer we raise to Heaven above,
God guard thee, Canada.

BROCK PRIZES PROMISED TO N. H. S. AGAIN

Bosworth, valedictorian, declared in an interesting and well-delivered address.

"When we think of European countries we are very glad that we have had N.H.S. to prepare us for university or direct entry into business life," he said.

"On the rugby field we have learned the spirit of true sportsmanship."

"We are indebted to our teachers, who have always been ready to help us, to the high school board, and to Mr. Barker."

Mr. Bosworth spoke of the "good principles and ideals the school had set forth," and expressed the hope that "we may always uphold the honor of the school of which we are so proud."

After recalling his own barefoot days, and bent-pin fishing days, Dr. A. C. Lewis, principal of University of Toronto Schools, Toronto, went on to speak of the war.

"For the second time in the brief history of some of us comes a call to do our duty," he said.

"If I am to judge by the co-operation the students of this high school are giving their teachers, I haven't any fear at all but that the young people of Newmarket will know how to make correct decisions."

"Students should pause at this time to reflect on all their parents have done for them," was another statement.

"Slowly we are being drawn into the vortex of war and sooner or later we will be all of us drawn into it," said Dr. Lewis.

"I didn't come here to urge you to serve in the armed forces, for that is a person's own business. We have a debt to our forefathers who came over to this country to gain freedom. For 1,000 years people had been fighting in Britain to get that freedom. Are we going to let go of this freedom we have?"

"We're on the verge of losing our civilization, and if we don't lose it it will mean that we have all given our total effort. Let us so act that those who come after us will not say that we were lazy and soft and let their freedom slip, and that they will not have to endure centuries of slavery."

Prizes and diplomas were presented as listed in last week's Era. One student, Murray Link, Roche's Point, received his honor matriculation diploma wearing the uniform of the Canadian navy. Kenneth Mawson of the staff presented the academic diplomas.

Two prize-winners not listed last week were Tom McFale and Marilyn MacInnis, highest boy and girl in Grade IX. These prizes were given by Mr. Bastedo.

Fred Chantler, as chairman of the high school board, presented the high school board's proficiency prizes and the form proficiency shields.

In presenting the new Stanley Brock prizes, totalling $75, D. O. Mungovan of the staff announced that Mr. Bastedo had just received a telephone call from Mr. Brock, expressing regret that he could not be present and promising to give the prizes again in 1942.

A play presented under the direction of Mr. Mungovan was entertaining. Murray Davis, Vera Babcock, Hugh Garrett, Jean Howlett and Douglas Chalklin offered convincing performances.

Choruses, under the direction of Miss Ada Lunn, of the staff, were a delightful part of the evening. The beautiful voice of Betty Hope as soloist in the final number was the occasion of many comments among those present.

Refreshments followed the interesting program. Proceeds of the evening went to a war charity.

Eversley

Mrs. A. Jones, who has not been well for some time, but was improving, fell and broke her left wrist on Saturday.

W. Rolling is confined to his home, suffering from shock and a fractured rib as the result of a motor accident.

T. A. Ferguson is a patient in Victoria Memorial hospital, Toronto, having had a cataract removed from his right eye.

Besides Howard Polliott, who was mentioned last week as having joined the air force, Bill Mesley and Dan Smith of Eaton Hall farm have also joined. Bill Mesley is the second son of Capt. the Rev. Frank Mesley, private secretary to Hon. W. P. Mulock. Their going leaves the farm short handed.

Rev. Mr. Atkinson's sermon on Sunday evening was on the pertinent question, "What shall I do with my life?" suggested by the pageant of the army forces at Maple Leaf Gardens last week.

The first real frost of the season came on Sunday night. Flowers have been blooming right along, calendulas, petunias and others. This frost spells "the death of the flowers."

PICTURES WANTED

Pictures of soldiers are appreciated in publication. Letters from soldiers are also welcome. There is no charge for printing pictures in The Era.

The Common Round

TWO MINUTES

By Isabel Inglis Colville

Where did the very familiar saying, "I'll be there in two minutes," or "We can do it in two minutes," come from? It's true one can concentrate a great deal of joy, sorrow, decision or fear into the space of two minutes, and now, once a year, there is a two minutes into which we crowd the recollection of 23 years.

There is something thrilling and poignant, something solemn and severe and yet serene and beautiful in the two-minute silence we observe on Armistice day. In that two minutes a great picture is spread before us—in the forefront the boys who marched away, heads high, eyes holding the vision of freedom for all men; then the battlefields—horrible as all battlefields are, yet holding the glory of unselfish service and sacrificial splendor amid their sordidness; then the "crosses, row on row," where lies the silent army that yet lives and speaks to our hearts.

Then we see some of the lads who marched away returning—older—showing the marks of the fiery furnace through which they have passed, but still hopeful—feeling they held high the torch flung to them by their comrades who sleep well "in Flanders Fields."

And there is in the picture the scene of another kind of battlefield that those who came back had to face. There was no glory in this fight—it was the struggle to survive indeed—but against a civilian population which had crowded out the men who fought and died for them. Some fell by the wayside, some struggled on and lived—if existence be living—and some regained a foothold and picked up the threads of life again, to weave them into a new pattern.

Last of all, as the picture fades, we see the boys who have donned the king's uniform and like young crusaders are going forth to conquer a Holy Land where freedom, peace, decency and worship reign. It is a picture of sharp contrasts and one which does not fade with age.

They say that a drowning person sees his life pass before him—I think in those two minutes on Armistice day we realize that nothing dies—that our armies in the first Great War laid the foundations on which we must build when "Cease Fire" sounds again.

It has seemed to some people in the strange, uncertain lull between the two conflicts that the sacrifices and sadnesses, the devastation and misery of the last war was just a terrible waste—no real purpose served—there was nothing conclusive. People who argued like that forgot that no real sacrifice was ever in vain.

The sacrifice on Calvary was in a small, unimportant country and it changed the whole world; the sacrifice of those who gave their lives for what they believed was a holy and just cause has helped to keep that world safe and sane, even when the powers of evil were beginning to weave black threads into the woof of time.

This year the outward observance of Armistice day was forbidden in France, but haven't you felt that it forbidden to do anything you thought you ought to do the thought of it sank deeper and deeper into your heart and was cherished as something infinitely dear.

German repression of all natural instincts of religion, of freedom of speech and equality of opportunity will, in the end, be her undoing. Anything effervescent, when too tightly corked, will blow out the cork.

and escape. Just so all the sealed up emotions in the conquered countries, repressed now, but seething underneath, must, when no more can be borne, explode in righteous wrath and bury the oppressor in the ruins of his own structure.

Two minutes silence—I think along with memory's pictures, like a vow beneath them, was the resolve that for every sacrifice made by those we honored, there should be some new and fine thing builded, when peace comes: that the memory of all those who in this war and the last have made the supreme sacrifice shall be the corner stone of the new order—the real way of life which must come if the world is to be a place where

SISTER-IN-LAW WAS WINNIPEG PIONEER

A resident of Winnipeg for 60 years, Mrs. John Sennett recently celebrated the anniversary of her arrival there. She was then a young girl of 17. She is a sister-in-law of Henry Sennett, Newmarket, Silas, Queensville, and Sidney, Toronto.

Mrs. Sennett went with her parents and young brothers and sisters to Winnipeg in the days when it meant a real pioneering life.

She has many interesting memories of early days in the western city. She recalls the buying of milk by the pound. It came frozen in oval pans. The grocer knocked it out and piled the pieces outside the store, then broke off a piece when the customer came to buy.

Scottish Hosts Serve Canadian Corn On Cob

Telling of corn on the cob and Scottish hospitality, Spr. Milton Morton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Morton, writes the following letter to friends at home.

123591 Spr. Milton G. Morton, No. 1 Road Const. Co., Royal Canadian Engineers, Canadian Army Overseas, Sun., Oct. 12, 1941.

Dear Sir: As my many friends and relatives of Newmarket and surrounding country have sent me many letters and parcels, all of which have been thankfully received, I would like, through the channel of your paper to express to them all my appreciation of their kindnesses.

As military regulations forbid us to relate very little news of army life, I shall outline briefly a pleasant nine days' leave which my friend and I spent in Scotland, and from which I have just returned.

My friend and I chose a very pretty coastal town, Wick in North Scotland, as our ultimate destination. It constituted a twenty-four hour trip from London, covering a distance of about six hundred and fifty miles. The trip was very pleasant with something of fresh interest almost every mile of the journey.

Our fellow passengers, recognizing us as Canadians, made the trip very interesting for us by pointing out to us places of historic interest, and by sharing with us their lunches.

Scotland is a very rolling, and in the northern part, mountainous country. Small lakes and streams intercepted by bush and shrub areas make the country very picturesque. There are also vast areas of sheep pastures covered with the Scotch heather which, unfortunately, was past its bloom.

What we found of particular interest was the perfect masonry of their stone fences enclosing their sheep pastures, and the perfect symmetry of their grain or corn stacks clothing the landscape in all directions. Both presented excellent skill in architecture which, according to our fellow passengers, has been handed from one generation to another.

We arrived in Wick about 9.30 p.m., and as it was past black-out time, we asked a lady sitting near us if she would be kind enough to direct us to an hotel. In her answer we became fully acquainted with the genuine hospitality which we found characteristic of the Scotch on all points of our journey. Her reply was something like this:

"Hool man are ye daft? Mo with two lads in the forces and ge all the way fra cross the water to serve your country. Come away with you. I have a bed waiting for the likes of ye, and I won't hear no about it."

Whereupon she took each of us by the arm and ushered us to her little cottage, where, after being fed we learned much about the deep sea herring industry from her fisherman husband before retiring.

In the morning we learned that she was going by bus to her brother's farm to do the housework, so that his wife could give much needed help with the harvest, as her brother was short-handed. My friend and I accompanied her, and borrowing old clothes from her brother, we became farmers for two days until his corn was completely stacked.

Although we found these two days a bit strenuous, we enjoyed them thoroughly. The grain was hauled in high carts propelled by one horse, and each hauling a load about one third of an average Canadian load. The grain or corn was put in cylindrical shaped stacks brought to a point at the top that would split a raindrop. A pole up the centre served as a guide for the plumb.

In the evening we were entertained with the bagpipes and many of the old Scotch dances and songs sung and danced by their twelve-year-old daughter and her mother. As a special treat for their Canadian guests, we had corn on the cob on two occasions, a treat I would gladly do two days' work for any day. What I found most significant of the character of these people was their sincere faith in God revealed in their bed-time devotions each evening.

As the head of the house, each night, placed the cares of his household in the hands of His Master, and declared himself ready for whatever sacrifices that might be required of him, one could not help but sense a source of strength in these people against which even the strategy and accumulated power of Hitler cannot prevail.

As we said good-bye to these people, we recognized in their knuckle-crushing handshakes, and their "God bless you and your wife and children" a friendliness and sincerity that is as old and sound as the hills and valleys surrounding them. Incidentally it was proved some hour later, that the prevalent proverb of Scotch conservatism and closeness is obviously a myth, when on opening my testament I found between the pages on which was written the verse "The labourer is worthy of his hire," two ten shilling notes. My friend found a similar stipend in his address book.

The balance of our leave was spent in various instalments in Inverness, Edinburgh and Glasgow where we visited ancient castles, points of historic interest, and in amusing ourselves as we felt inclined.

The last two days of our leave we spent visiting our relatives near Manchester where we found English hospitality as sincere as the Scotch. On the last day of my leave, in spite of much damage from bombs in Manchester, I was able to see through the kindness of a friend, points of interest in Manchester.

I returned from leave to the monotonous regular routine of army life rested, with the memory of beautiful Scotland and England, and the kindness and hospitality of their peoples deeply imbedded in my soul. I also returned to the duties of army life feeling that it is an honour to be engaged in the defence of the democracies of these people as well as my own.

Conveying heartiest greetings to all my friends, I am,

Yours truly,

Milton Morton.

HELP THE OWNTRODDEN
An excellent sales talk for Canada's war savings certificates comes this week from Ambassador Franz von Papen at Ankara. Declares von Papen: "Nothing will be permitted to block Germany's plans for the future. Objectors will ruthlessly exterminated."
Newmarket has a long way to go in the war savings campaign, but Newmarket's heart is right there" and the money will follow.

U.S. NEUTRALITY
The close vote in the U.S. congress on the amendment of the Neutrality Act seems to indicate that the U.S. is some distance from a declaration of war. The senate and the house of representatives sitting together voted 212 to 194 to amend the act radically to permit U.S. merchant ships to be armed and to enter Allied ports. President Roosevelt might be ready to declare war tomorrow, but that power lies with congress. Congress should soon be considering the question of open war, but it would look as though the opposition in the U.S. to full participation is still much stronger than Canadians are inclined to think.

AN ELECTION?
The great majority of the Canadian people do not want compulsory enlistment for overseas service, declares Hon. Pierre Casgrain, Canadian secretary of state. Mr. Casgrain is probably right, but, fortunately or unfortunately, the "great majority" do not form public opinion in this or any other country. A much smaller group of people, those who take an active interest in public policy, express their opinions forcibly and gradually form public opinion on questions of the day, and it seems obvious that a majority of these opinion-formers, in English-speaking Canada, anyway, are in favor of conscription.
The masses are not yet in favor of compulsory enlistment for overseas service but they may be tomorrow. Such a shrewd follower of public opinion as Prime Minister Mackenzie King, in his speech to parliament last week, did not say that he was opposed to overseas conscription or that he favored it. He just said that he would not support it without first consulting the people. If Mr. King adopted an anti-conscription platform and appealed to the people, he would give the public a chance to choose between a conscription party and a non-conscription party. But, as is more likely, if he appealed to the people for a mandate to introduce conscription, he would have already made the decision for the Canadian people. There would be no issue in the election, no choice. People would have to vote for one conscription party or another. There would be no point in the election, except that Mr. King could say that he had kept his previous anti-conscription pledges until excused from them.
Now that puts Mr. King in a difficult dilemma. If he reaches the conclusion that conscription is desirable, he must either go back on his pledge or hold a meaningless election. The statesman-like course for Mr. King is, if he doesn't think conscription desirable, to oppose it and, if he finds himself in a minority in parliament, to turn over the government to those who believe in conscription; or, if he thinks conscription desirable, to form a union government with those of other parties who agree with him and to allow those who disagree with him to unite to oppose conscription. Then, if that majority decide that they must have popular approval, the people would have a choice, an opportunity to vote for or against conscription.
A conscription election would be a sorry business, and those who are forcing the issue on the public would have the responsibility. They might consider an election not too great a price to pay for conscription . . . even though there is doubt about how useful it was in the last war.

FREEZING THE FARMER
When asked by the Financial Post whether farm prices should be pegged at their present levels, Mr. J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers, says: "In the main my answer to your question is yes." Mr. McLean has got a long way from the farm in the course of the years. He says: "Farm prices on the whole are higher than at any time since 1930 and the position of farmers should be satisfactory providing the controls are effective in respect of price of products which farmers buy."
Why should glaring inequality be frozen? Why should the farmer not have a chance to earn interest on his investment when industry is having that chance? Why should farm prices be prevented from rising?
Mr. McLean doesn't take into account farm labor as one of the things which the farmer must buy or try to buy. There is no control on the cost of farm labor. It is hardly possible to buy farm labor.
Well, Ottawa will find that there is an answer to its shortsighted policy. Farmers are finding that it doesn't pay them to operate their farms on a 100 percent basis. Many younger farmers have quit entirely to take jobs in industry. Not a few farmers have seeded down land which would otherwise have been used for crops.

crops. We see quite a bit of this in York county, but not as much as is reported in some other counties. The answer will be reduced production, and, willynilly, higher prices.

TREATING SOLDIERS BETTER
Increased allowances to soldiers' dependents is a sound move. Increased pay to the soldiers themselves, in the form of deferred post-war payments, to put their remuneration in line with that given in war industry, would also be sound. It would simplify recruiting problems, stiffen army morale, and be an earnest of Canada's intention to build a post-war country "fit for heroes."

HELPING THE NAZIS
Most surprising are the manifold ways in which military minds function, their press censorship to perform. These military censors will strain a ligament to avoid calling an "eastern Canadian seaport" by its correct name, and they have no objection to an overseas unit being referred to as a "well-known Toronto highland regiment" but it must not be called by its correct name. However, they are so proud of any mechanical or tactical advances which they themselves make that they broadcast them to the world. Various new war devices are from time to time explained in the press in popular language. Specifications are not given, but the ideas are there, and no doubt prove useful to the Nazis.
For instance, the U.S. army, which surely isn't trying to help Germany, broadcasts via Associated Press fairly detailed results of their findings in dropping gasoline by parachute. If the Nazis really are planning to invade Britain next year, the U.S. army has made some valuable suggestions.

PLANNING THE FUTURE
A visionary post-war program, both national and international, would not only result in a so-called all-out or total war effort on the part of Canadians and their allies but it would strengthen the ranks of our friends within Germany and conquered Europe. It would also bring closer the day of complete American assistance.
In the national field Canadians should even now be planning a state in which all would work and none would want. That can almost be done now in time of war and it could be done much more successfully in time of peace, when all efforts could be for the production of consumer goods. Our government, the Bank of Canada, and the chartered banks have been able to finance almost total employment at the present time, in spite of the fact that the additional production has been of munitions and supplies which are to be destroyed on the field of battle. Our government and financial institutions could even more easily finance total employment in time of peace when the extra production would be for the immediate benefit and consumption of Canadians. It could be done provided that the government continued to exercise the same control over business that it exercises now, provided that it was determined to make use of every available industrial plant, and controlled, as it practically does now, what goods each plant should produce.
There need be no interference with the fundamental personal freedoms, no less democracy but indeed more, economic as well as political democracy.
There would be interference with so-called free enterprise, but what would that matter? Farmers would have plumbings in their houses, and town and city people would have lots of food. As a country we would be able to give up the silly business of trying to sell to other countries more than they sell us, pushing tariffs ever higher and hoping that the result won't be war.

In the international field, Canada and every Allied government should be studying detailed plans for a new system of world government. It is no use talking of two or three countries policing the world. That might seem to be acceptable at the moment, but it wouldn't work for long. The United States certainly cannot act as a world policeman without removing her band-aids, without drastic amendment to the constitution to permit swift action. The British Commonwealth of Nations (which should be considered as having its birth at Versailles when the dominions took their places as separate nations at the peace table) has found itself unable to act concertedly in world affairs. Canada (under Mr. Bennett) did not want to act against Japan at the time of the Manchurian invasion, and Canada (under Mr. King) did not want to impose oil sanctions against Italy at the time of the Ethiopian invasion.

We can't think that Russia would make any better policeman than the U.S.A. or the British Commonwealth.
There is only one other thing to do and that is to set up some form of world government, give it a small navy and airforce and army and let it be the policeman in an otherwise disarmed world. That was the general direction in which the League of Nations was headed.
More than that, benevolent as we might think our, or U.S. or Russian, policing would be, most peoples would look at it differently. Even British people themselves would wonder why they should bear the expense of policing the world without benefits in return. The people of Britain, poor under the armament burdens they have had to bear for long years, would sigh with relief when a world government took over the task of patrolling the seas, when India and Ireland and Egypt and Palestine were no longer problems to worry about.
A new and convincing plan for a League of Nations, a true world government, sponsored now by Russia, U.S.A., the British Commonwealth and other Allied governments, would knock six months off German resistance and bring all-out aid from America (Canada and U.S.A.) to Britain, Russia and China.
The war effort appeal today is negative. We ask people to lend, to give, to fight so that the Germans won't overrun our country and take away from us what we have, poor as it may be. Instead we should ask people to do all that they can so that we, when victorious, may build, with the help of the defeated nations, a world in which there will be no need or imaginary need for any to fight for a place in the sun.

WHAT OTHERS THINK
WAR GOVERNMENT NEEDED
(Smiths Falls Record News)
Canada's greatest need today, besides conscription, is a war government—not Liberal, Conservative, Social Credit or any other one-party government, but a government composed of the most capable men in the dominion regardless of party affiliations. How can we attain such? Simple! All the people have to do is rise up and demand it! But then a human being is so fickle. The federal government resumed its session on Monday after adjournment on June 14. Rumor says it will be a short-period assembly. If so, can't be much serious business, so why not give the members a vacation "without pay." Would save the country money that could be used for the war effort.
In his opening address on Monday, Prime Minister King gave a very nice speech, according to the press reports, but our analysis of same is that it was only a re-hash or review of the progress of war to date, nothing with which most Canadians were not already familiar. No mention was made, nor has been made at the time of this writing, about the needed man-power, etc., or vital problems facing this country and which should come before the house of commons. Perhaps it will come yet. With the other millions of Canadians we await enlightenment on such.

FIRST THINGS FIRST
(Fort Erie Times-Review)
As has been said before in these columns, few men in this country are in possession of all the knowledge which is essential for the formation of an intelligent, authoritative opinion on the necessity for conscripting men for military service overseas. The ordinary citizen is in no position to judge, at this time, whether more battalions of fighting men or more tanks, planes, etc., should be Canada's contribution to defeat Nazidom.
However, some light was thrown on the subject by Lord Beaverbrook on his return to London from the United States and Canada. While he gave an encouraging report on war production in North America, he emphasized the importance of an even greater output in these words:
We are in the unhappy state of having more troops than weapons. What is needed is an output of tanks and anti-tank equipment which will give the Forces the confidence that comes of having more weapons than they require.
It will be remembered, too, that Premier Stalin has stressed, on more than one occasion, that Russia's most urgent requirements are more tanks and planes.
The foregoing is not to be interpreted as an argument against compulsory military training for overseas services. It is simply a suggestion that, if first things should be done first, it behooves us to make sure which are the things that need to be done first.

THE CHUMS HAVE FEARS FOR THE FUTURE
BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB
"I'm really beginning to wonder if we should worry about the situation," Mrs. Woody Woodpecker said very seriously to some of her friends, one gray morning about the middle of November.
"Never worry, my dear Mrs. Woodpecker," Handsome the Blue Jay screamed loudly across to her from a nearby birch tree, where he was perched majestically. "Worrying never did anyone any good yet. If a bad thing is going to happen, it will happen whether you worry about it or not."
"Yes, that may be true, but we might possibly be able to do something about it if we decided to worry," explained Merry Chickadee gravely to the big Blue Jay.
"You make me laugh," scoffed Handsome. "Suppose you birds do decide to worry about this thing, would you mind telling me what it is that will be the subject of your worry? Is it something that I should know about?"
"If you weren't so completely engrossed in your own good looks, you'd have noticed it yourself," chirped Mrs. Nutty Nuthatch. "Haven't you seen how early the winter birds are in arriving this year? They're coming down from the north considerably earlier than usual."
"Is that so?" asked the Blue Jay with interest. "I suppose I've seen some of these birds, but it didn't dawn on me that it had any significance. Has it any?"
"Why yes!" answered Mrs. Woody Woodpecker. "We've been around talking to quite a number of these birds in the last few days. And they . . ."
"Whom have you seen?" interrupted the Jay. "I've noticed some Cedar Waxwings—but who else has come?"
"Well, as you say, there are Cedar Waxwings and Redpolls and Pine Siskins, and, of course, Kinglets and Juncos, but we'd expect those . . ."
"And we've even run into some Snow Buntings," put in Merry.
"How do you explain it?" inquired the Jay.
"I was just going to tell you before, when you interrupted me so rudely," said Mrs. Woody. "They all say that they've come down here early because there seems to be a shortage of food in the north country this year. That happens from time to time, you know."
"Yes, of course," agreed Handsome. "But that is going to make it rather embarrassing for the birds already here. The food here will all be eaten up that much sooner. Dear me!"
"There, you see, you're beginning to worry yourself," scoffed Mrs. Nuthatch. "And you were telling us not to worry a few minutes ago!"
"Well, now that you have presented your problem, I am forced to admit that there just might be a little something of a difficulty there," said Handsome pompously from his perch above the others. "I wouldn't have anything to worry about myself, as a matter of fact, because I am so much bigger and stronger than most of the others that I can get what I want."
"Yes, you're a big bully of course," agreed Merry very politely, with a twinkle in her eye, "but even you won't be able to be all over the place at once, guarding your food supply."
"It's certainly a good thing that the Robins are clearing out of these parts fast," said Handsome musingly. "If I see any stray Robins hanging around I'll tell them they'd better rush south before they starve."
"This may mean that a good many of our own relatives, Woodpeckers and Chickadees and Nuthatches, who usually stay here all winter, will decide to push on farther south, too," Mrs.

When telephone traffic was one-fifth of what it is today, the "Bell Mechanized Division" was in an early stage of development. A fleet of Model "T" trucks guarded long distance lines, built new ones, went into action in emergencies. Then, as now, mobile, well-equipped Bell Telephone units did their bit in the vital field of communications.

When mechanized armies menace us with new dangers, mechanized services on the Home Front help to meet them. The number of units of the Bell Telephone today is as large as those used by a substantial army. These units are placed in strategic spots throughout Ontario and Quebec, and like their predecessors in 1914, they "guard long distance lines, build new ones, go into action in emergencies."

KESWICK Will Speak To W.I. On Nutrition And Defence

The Lakeside Women's Institute are to be hostesses on Friday afternoon, Nov. 23, to Elm-hurst and Roche's Point Institutes in the Sunday-school room of Keswick United church, when the guest speaker, Miss Gertrude Grey, will address the meeting, taking for her subject, "Nutrition and Defence." Please note the change of day.

VIRGINIA
Virginia Church Holds
Anniversary Services

The anniversary services, which were held at the Virginia United church last Sunday, were largely attended. The pastor, Rev. L. Stewart, delivered the message in the afternoon. He was assisted by Miss Pearl Ward of Sutton, who rendered two beautiful solos. In the evening Rev. Hugh Shannon of Queens-ville was the guest speaker. He was assisted by the Queensville quartet, which warmed the hearts of the entire congregation
by their lovely singing.
The sympathy of this community is extended to Ed. Sedore in the tragic death of his son, Clarence, of Jackson's Point, who was drowned in Lake Simcoe last Sunday.
Mrs. Ed. West opened her home last week to the members of the Women's Institute, who are very busy at present working on a number of quilts for overseas service.

Mr. Ted Arnold of Oshawa spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Arnold.
Mr. and Mrs. H. Huntley of Willow Beach and Mr. and Mrs.
Thos. Horner were guests of Mr.
and Mrs. Wm. Horner on Sunday.

Rodg. Hiscott of the R.C.A.F., Mountain View, spent the weekend with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gilson and family, of Wilfrid, Mr. John Umphrey, and Mrs. Morley
Umphrey and Donna, of Udonia, were guests of Mr. and Mrs.
Elymer Rae on Sunday.

ZEPHYR
82-YEAR-OLD HUNTER
HAS SUCCESSFUL HUNT

Richard Curl, 82-year-old hunter, has returned from a successful hunt with the Round Lake Hunt club. Mr. Curl succeeded in bringing down a large doe. This was his 48th consecutive hunt.

James Marshall is back in Zephyr. He has re-covered his garage, which greatly adds to its appearance.

The Zephyr Hunt club returned last Thursday night with their full quota of deer.

Mrs. James Lockie entertained the W.A. of the Presbyterian church last Friday evening.

Mrs. Ferguson is spending this week with her son and family in Peterboro.

Miss Marion Arnold of Peterboro spent a few days with friends here.

Buddy Pangman of Newmarket spent a few days with his grandfather here.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker of Weston visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith, on Sunday.

Miss Florence Raham of Weston and Mr. Frankie Raham of "Gronte" were at their home here on Sunday.

Miss Patricia Marshall, who has spent a couple of weeks in Weston, returned home on Sunday.

Miss Jean Profit is ill.

Mrs. Weller, Sr., is spending the winter in Keswick with her son, Mr. Robert Weller.
Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Silversides and Beth spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Newton in Hickson.
Walt Meyers and Clarence Pickering of the Moorehead Club
each shot one or more deer.
The Christmas Sunday-school concert of the United church here will be held on Monday evening,
Dec. 22.

ELMHURST BEACH
FOX BREEDER TAKES
HONORS AT BARRIE

The Elmhurst Beach Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Smithers last week. Prizes were given to Beth King and Dorothy Rye for the two best oral compositions in the Jersey school. A paper on Canadianization, prepared by Mrs. Hunter, was read by Mrs. Lockerbie.

Four of the girls from Jersey school, Beth King, Dorothy Rye, Vivian Crate and Ruth Hirst served the lunch to the ladies and all had an enjoyable afternoon.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Charles Hodgins in the loss of her mother, Mrs. Walker, who passed away at her home last Tuesday.

L. B. Pollock attended the live fox show in Guelph last week and won two firsts, two seconds and a sixth.

At the Barrie fox show on Thursday he had the grand champion for the platinum fox, reserve champion for platinum fox and reserve champion adult male for pale silver fox, three firsts, five seconds and four thirds. Mr. Pollock left on Friday for the fox show in Winnipeg.

Mrs. L. B. Pollock attended the fox show in Barrie last week and the school of instruction for the Eastern Star lodge.
Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pollard, who were married in Newmarket last week.

A number from the community were guests at the Pollard-Willoughby wedding in Newmarket on Wednesday of last week.

Maple Hill

Miss Ruth Knights is visiting her sister, Mrs. Rundle, in Newmarket.

The Dorcas society expects to pack their Christmas box for home missions on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Fred Knights.

The weekly Thursday evening prayer meeting is being held in different people's homes during the winter months. This week it is to be at Mel. Wright's and next week at Fred Knights'

Sharon

A number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. J. D. Murrell last Thursday evening to do honor, in the form of a miscellaneous shower, to Miss Florence Oliver, a bride of this month.

After a hilarious game of "get acquainted," and a treasure hunt by the guests for the miscellaneous gifts for the bride, the gifts were presented and the bride-to-be, in an alcove decorated in baby pink, blue and white paper, unwrapped the many beautiful gifts.

A dainty lunch was served by the hostess, after which the guests left, wishing the bride-to-be great happiness.

Mount Pleasant

Indian summer must be here with the lovely sunshine this Tuesday morning.

Quite a number attended the Young People's meeting at Ross Stiles' on Friday evening. All report a good meeting and a good time.

Mrs. Everett Yorke and Claude visited in Lindsay last Thursday.

Mrs. Geo. Moulds returned last Sunday from a two weeks' visit in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Davidson and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Davidson and son, George, visited in Newmarket on Sunday at the home of Mrs. A. Rose.

Holt

The November meeting of the Holt Home and School club will be held on Friday evening, Nov.
28. A good program is being provided.

On Wednesday evening, Dec.
3, Rex Frost will present his film, "Cavalade of Europe," in the community hall, Mount Albert, under the auspices of the Holt Home and School club.

Proceeds will be for the British War Victims' Fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watts spent the weekend with Mrs.
Alan McInnis in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Ianson spent the weekend with their daughter, Mrs. Gordon Morris of Toronto.

Miss Ada Couch of Toronto spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Couch.

Miss May Armstrong spoke to a large audience in Holt church on Monday evening, Nov. 17, and told of her experience on the ship, ZamZam, which was shelled and sunk by a German raider.

Mr. Jas. Knott, Miss Maud
Knott and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Gibney spent Sunday with Mr.
and Mrs. Frank Gambrill, King City.

To assure the success of a farm sale have the list printed in The Era.

Glenville

A talking movie picture and show, and dance, are taking place at the parish hall, Kettleby,
on Nov. 26, at 8 p.m., S.T.

Mr. Wesley Anning and Mr.
Norman Anning of Toronto spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs.
George Anning.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Johnson and Miss Ruth Johnson of Toronto spent Sunday the guests of Mr.
and Mrs. Wm. George.

Miss Lorraine Keffer of Toronto is visiting at her home for a few days.

Miss Shirley Anning spent Sunday in Orillia visiting friends.

A Statement
From Newmarket Committee For Government Control

We intend to present to you through this medium and otherwise, our estimate of the factors which should rightly be considered by the electors of Newmarket in the vote to be held on December 1st.

And we had intended doing this earlier but have not been able to do so owing to some uncertainty as to those who are entitled to be placed on the voters' list as "electors"—whether they are exclusively those who have their normal civilian homes here or whether they included, as well, those who have their barrack residence within the municipality.

It was not until today (November 19th) that the finality on this question was reached by the Court of Appeal—at least, insofar as this vote is concerned.

An 'active' soldier or a 'trainee' (known as A and R recruits respectively) situate at the Newmarket (and, presumably, any other) camp cannot be placed on the list to vote and, therefore, cannot vote where he is situate at any given time.

And no length of residence within the camp (and within the municipality) would give him the right to do so if he ever had another home or residence. The assumption appears to be that every soldier is anchored—as to his vote—to the place he came from. If he had never been on a list there it is not explained how, and by whom, or whether he would be placed on a list in his absence. Men who came from municipalities with a population over 10,000 and from Townships bordering on large cities (in all of which door to door enumeration occurs) would have to depend upon the, perhaps, unsubstantial hope that someone will remember he is serving his country and see that he gets on a voters' list.

BUT, any young civilian who came into Newmarket as late as September 30th to take a job could be placed on the list to vote in Newmarket, AND AT THIS ELECTION—and were placed on the list.

They are free to pick their own home at any time and could leave Newmarket December 2nd, the day after the vote—but their vote is registered.

The soldier has no say about where he goes and when. But, in order to get on a list he has to depend on some other home than his barracks—and to register his vote he has to get there—and, probably, all on his own and at his own expense.
Because he may be required to take an oath, if he is fortunate enough to get on a list and get there, that he has "not received anything nor has anything been promised (him) directly or indirectly to induce (him) to vote at this election or for loss of time, travelling expenses, hire of conveyance or any service whatever connected with this election."

BUT there are two classes of persons in the camp who can be placed on the list and who can vote.

1. The permanent staff.

The ordinary soldier questions how these are any more 'permanent' than themselves—both being subject to the orders of the Department of National Defence at any given time.

2. Men who are of any type in the Newmarket camp AND ARE IN HOSPITAL.

A well, active man in the Newmarket camp finds it difficult to understand that a sick man incapable, for the time being, at least, of fighting, should have a facility that is denied to a well man.

For ourselves we have done the duty imposed upon us, as we saw it, by the presence of these soldiers in our midst. We have presented their case to the Revising Official and pursued the only appeal (that to the Court of Appeal) that was open to us.

The situation that the circumstance opens up, is for soldiers, or organizations on their exclusive behalf, to develop. Our clear duty is done.

It was quite within the right and power of the Prohibition organization that is urging the opposite view to ours, to oppose the placing of these soldiers on the voters' list. But we can be pardoned if we refuse to believe that they were animated by any thought other than that soldiers, as a class, would vote against Prohibition in any form—general or local.

We dismiss as unreal and unsubstantial the suggestion which seems to have been advanced by our opponents that their opposition to the soldier vote was that it would be unreasonable that soldiers should be permitted to exert an influence on the affairs of the community which might persist after the soldiers had left the community.

Is not the present local option law, passed many years ago, and on which only taxpayers voted, a continuing influence exerted over the larger and later body of electors?

Soldiers did not choose Newmarket or the Newmarket camp.
But they are forced to live under these local conditions fixed for them by others many years ago.

On these soldiers, as representative of a class, depend the conditions under which all of us will live. It would not appear unreasonable that, as representatives of a class, their voice should be heard as to the conditions with which they are faced during their involuntary stay in our midst.

We will take the earliest opportunity of presenting for your consideration a discussion of the factors that would have prevailed if this soldier vote had not been in issue.

MOUNT ALBERT WAR SAVINGS MONEY TAKEN FROM SCHOOL

Miss E. Leek picked roses from her garden on Nov. 13, something unusual.

Miss Ida Cuyler is spending a few weeks with relatives in Toronto.

Mr. W. T. Lloyd suffered a heart attack on Saturday morning and is confined to bed for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Harmon of Perry Sound were in town over the weekend at the home of Mr. Harmon's father, Mr. John Harmon.

Dr. Jas. Hamilton of Geneva, N.Y., visited his mother, Mrs. Crowle, over the weekend.

John Ross, who is in the R.C.A.F. at Ottawa, is home on two weeks' leave.

Sneak thieves have broken into the public school twice during the last week, making away with the children's money for war saving stamps.

Don. Stewart of the R.C.A.F. at London was home over the weekend.

The public school is having a baking sale at Steeper's store on Saturday afternoon.

Mount Albert

Mrs. Horace Brown has received letters from her son, Pte. Leon. Brown, who has arrived in England safely and has been able to visit his relatives and old school chums there. He wished to be remembered to all friends at home.

The November meeting of the Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. G. Burnham last Thursday, with rather a small attendance present. The president, Mrs. H. Brown, has had to resign on account of ill health, and the first vice-president, Mrs. Crowle, will carry on in her place. The members hope that Mrs. Brown may soon be restored to better health.

Ten dollars was voted to the central fund for garden seeds and blankets to be sent to England by the provincial board. It was decided not to ask for the grant from the department. Current events were given on Canadianization, which means a friendly open mind to all, rich or poor. This will make good Canadians of all who come to this land.

A paper on legislation dealt with a new health program for Canada, in which all should get equal care medically and which would come out of the taxes. The roll-call asked each one to show her registration card and only one member did not have it with her and she paid a nickel fine.

All ladies are welcome at these meetings, and the Institute has yarn to knit socks for boys around here. Anyone who would like to do this can get yarn at Steeper's store.

The library board will hold a baking sale in their room on Saturday, Nov. 29, at 3 o'clock. Citizens are asked to patronize this needy cause and help the board with their finances.

Mount Albert unit of the Red Cross packed the following on Monday: 13 quilts, eight crib quilts, seven soldiers' scarves, four seamen's scarves, one lady's scarf, five helmets, 10 seamen's sweaters, four khaki turtle-neck sweaters, three sleeveless sweaters, 12 prs. white mitts, three prs. ladies' gloves, five prs. khaki gloves, one boy's sweater, eight prs. long seamen's stockings, nine prs. 18" socks, seven prs. khaki socks.

Thirteen prs. booties, five bonnets, one jacket, one nightgown, two prs. socks, 11 slips, 14 dresses, two flannelette jackets, one pr. shoes, two coats, one skirt and sweater, one sweater, two dresses, two girls' coats, one knitted dress.

Pleasantville

Mrs. Frank Williams and son, Garnet, returned home on Sunday after spending a week at Mrs. Williams' home in Schomberg.

Mrs. A. Lloyd of Pine Orchard spent a couple of days last week at the home of Mrs. A. Tucker. Mr. and Mrs. A. Ridley, Mr. Albert Ridley and Miss Gladys Harper dined at the home of Mrs. Atwood, Uxbridge, on Sunday.

Miss Sadie McQueen was a guest for tea on Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Steve. Rose, Newmarket.

Rev. Morris Gilleon of Bobcaygeon, a former resident here, had Monday night supper at Mr. John McClure's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Harper, Mr. and Mrs. L. Harper and Mr. Guy Soules spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. D. Booth at Mongolia.

About 45 were present at the Monday night prayer service at the home of Mrs. Gordon McClure. Rev. Mr. Gilleon, who had motored nearly 100 miles for the occasion on that day, delivered a very forceful message.

The Bogartown club will reopen this Friday night at the school.

Last Tuesday night Misses Gladys and Irene Harper, Roy Harper and Miss F. Stickwood were guests at the Junior Farmers' banquet at Vellore and assisted on the program.

Congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Playter, who were recently married. On Monday night the usual serenade took place.

Sharon

The Women's Association of the United church will hold their monthly meeting at the hall next Thursday. There will be a hot supper served from 5:30 p.m. until all are served.

Mrs. Frank Tate of Richmond Hill spent Tuesday in Sharon. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parker of Toronto visited Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Parker over the weekend.

Next Wednesday evening there will be a progressive euchre under the auspices of St. James' church in the township hall. Good prizes will be given and playing will commence at 8 p.m., S.T.

Mr. Hilson Grose of Winnipeg spent a few days recently with his brother, Mr. Willard Grose.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wicks and Jimmie, of Markham, visited Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Fry on Sunday.

Mr. Fred Ramsay of Edmonton and Mr. George Wright of Toronto visited Mr. and Mrs. Levi Weddel on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Barnham and Marion and Miss Donna Fry spent the weekend in Toronto.

There will be a Red Cross euchre in the hall on Tuesday evening, Dec. 2, and a Red Cross autograph quilt will be auctioned off during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Pearson and Jimmie, of Newmarket, visited at Mr. W. Grose's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Ramsay visited in Toronto on Sunday.

BELHAVEN

Township council nominations will be held in the hall on Monday.

Gordon Locke has joined the R.C.A.F.

Norman King is at present ill with blood poisoning in his arm.

Robt. Hare, while away hunting, was fortunate in shooting a black bear.

Mrs. John Whittaker spent a few days last week with her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hodgins, at Whitby.

A woman about to entertain a duchess for the first time gave careful instructions to the maid about the way the duchess was to be received.

"Now, Mary," she said, "remember that whenever you address the duchess you must say, 'your Grace'."

When the great day arrived, and the maid opened the door to the duchess, the latter inquired if the mistress was at home. The maid answered, "Yes, she is, and may the Lord make us truly thankful for what we are about to receive."

JAGGER OLDHAM DIES AT MOUNT ALBERT

The Mount Albert community suffered a deep loss when Jagger Oldham died at his home there on Sunday, Nov. 9, after an illness of a week.

The son of Susannah Jagger and William Oldham, he was born on Jan. 25, 1865. He was a native of York county.

Mr. Oldham was a farmer. He retired from farming in 1917. He was unmarried.

A very fine character and a good example to others, Mr. Oldham will be missed by a wide circle of friends. He belonged to Mount Albert United church.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Wm. Smith of Newmarket, and a number of nephews and nieces.

The funeral service was held last Thursday at Hartman United church. Rev. R. V. Wilson conducted the service. Pallbearers were six nephews: Herbert Graham, Wm. Graham, Denzil Oldham, Melville Oldham, Grant Oldham and Ewart Oldham. Interment was made in Hartman United church cemetery.

Queensville

The Women's Institute will meet next Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Albert Newall. The roll-call will be: A good book for winter months. Mrs. B. Sinclair of Mount Albert, the district president, will be the guest speaker. The lunch committee will be Mrs. S. Eves, Mrs. W. Micks and Mrs. Roy Cowie.

The meeting called for Wednesday of this week, at which Miss Agnes Macphail was to speak, has been postponed until Dec. 10.

The best wishes of the community are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dew, who were married last Thursday evening.

Among those who entertained at showers for Miss Marian Burkholder were Mrs. Wilbert Dew, Miss Helen Hill, Mrs. Miles and Mrs. Helen of Irlington, and Mrs. Roy Gibson of Newmarket.

Miss Dorothy Shannon is spending a week with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Hugh Shannon.

Mrs. Walker Morton and daughter, Thelma, paid a flying visit to R. A. Putnam's home one evening this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Neufelt have returned to Queensville after being in Newmarket where Mrs. Neufelt has been quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Luck of Barrie spent one day this week with Mrs. J. J. Terry.

Mr. and Mrs. Jardine took a three-day trip to Muskoka and Kirkfield this week.

Miss Hazel Doane visited her sister in Toronto one day this week.

Don. Smith has obtained a job with the National Steel Co. at Malton.

Miss Shirley Hillaby of Sutton West spent the weekend with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leith.

Miss Elva Bradford of Burks Falls is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Angus Smith.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Alexander, who attended the funeral of her father, Mr. Grieverson, in Toronto this week.

Mrs. Hodgson, a former resident of Queensville, is ill in the Toronto General hospital.

Harry Hulse left for the hunting grounds one day this week. Arthur, Gerald and Bob Watson, with their wives, visited their home here last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rae, who have been living in this village for the past few months, are moving to Bradford. Neighbors are sorry to lose them.

A familiar landmark has been removed from this village, namely, the old Presbyterian hall and sheds, which have been sold to Mr. Carl Glover of Ravenshoe.

PASTOR PAYS GLOWING TRIBUTE TO HANDSMEN

Noble's redoubtable craft of old, equipped even with eagle pigeons, was described by Rev. Arthur Greer as the first "Ark Royal" at the Congregational Christian church on Sunday morning.

Mr. Greer chose a shipbuilding subject in view of the presence of Tuscan Jack Masons.

"As for Victory planked here and there will not alone win the war," Mr. Greer said in the evening. "We must have V plus R (repentance), V plus W (work) and V plus 'ph' makes the sign of the cross."

Members of Newmarket Citizens' band were present. "The band is definitely of an extraordinary calibre for the size of the town," said Mr. Greer. "I hope that the town appreciates the fine piece of work done in our midst, that we need not close to it to realize its quality."

A subscription to The Era will make a friend happy.

NOTICE

North Gwillimbury Township

A list of lands for sale for arrears of taxes has been prepared and copies thereof may be obtained from the treasurer, W. Erwin Winch, Belhaven, and the list is being published in the Ontario Gazette; and that in default of payment of the taxes, the land will be sold by public auction on Saturday, Feb. 7, 1942, at the hour of 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the community hall, Belhaven. ## HAS RELATIVES AT SUTTON

Pilot Officer Jack E. Harlton, now serving overseas with a bomber command, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Harlton (nee Mildred Sedore) of Stony Beach, Sask., and a grandson of Mrs. Jones Sedore of Sutton West and the late Mr. Sedore.

ROUGH LAKE WATER CAUSES DROWNING

Two drowning fatalities occurred in this district over the weekend.

Clarence Sedore, 45, was drowned in Lake Simcoe on Sunday morning when his boat capsized near the mouth of the Black River opposite Mossington Park. Four men on the shore, who saw the accident, were unable to launch a boat in the rough water to help him.

Mr. Sedore had gone out early fishing and his boat upset in the choppy water. His body was not found until five hours later by Howard Matt and J. O'Dell.

Mr. Sedore worked on the estate of Charles Muir at Jackson's Point. His wife died a short time ago. Surviving are his father, Ed. Sedore, and five children. Pte. Clarence Sedore, a son, is overseas. There are also two brothers and one sister.

The funeral service was held at the home of Jack Chalmers, Jackson's Point, on Tuesday afternoon.

Henry Harvey, 47, of Newton Robinson was drowned in the Holland Marsh when his dump truck pitched into a drainage canal following the collapse of a bridge, on Saturday. He had been hauling loads of wet clay from the interior of the marsh to the main dam of the irrigation system, about eight miles south-west of Bradford.

Two marsh farmers pulled the truck from the water of the six foot ditch. Dr. M. K. Dillane of Schomberg performed artificial respiration and hope was not given up for three hours.

THE ONLY EMPLOYEE

"You have been with that firm a long time," said the old school friend.

"Yes," answered the man with the patient expression of contentment.

"What's your position?" "I'm an employee."

"But what is your official title?" "I haven't any official title. It's like this: When the proprietor wants something done he tells the cashier, and the cashier tells the bookkeeper, and the bookkeeper tells the assistant bookkeeper, and the assistant bookkeeper tells the chief clerk, and the chief clerk tells me."

"And what then?" "Well, I haven't anybody to tell, so I have to go and do it."

WAS YOUNGEST AT MATCH

Six-year-old Melvin Sedore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Sedore of Keswick, won awards for being the youngest playerman at the North York plowing match held this month at the farm of Wm. and Frank Marritt at Keswick. Melvin was a cup presented by the Yonge St. Plowmen's Association and a prize of $11. He drove a tractor and a two-furrow plow. He began plowing this summer. Melvin is in the second grade at the Jersey school.

RED CROSS BLANKET FUND REACHES $128

The Newmarket branch of the Red Cross wishes the public to know that if the wife or mother of any of the local boys in service will call at the Red Cross rooms and leave the name and number of the soldier, the local branch will be pleased to furnish them with socks, sweater, scarf or mitts, as the case may be. They would like to have a written acknowledgement from the one receiving the article, addressed to Mrs. Jack King, Red Cross Society, Newmarket.

The branch has received $128 for the blanket fund and four blankets.

The following donations were received from the Vivian unit: proceeds from field day, $22; blanket fund (McCormack memorial church), $10; proceeds of sundry activities, $39.35.

Mrs. Gordon Burch handed in $4 raised by a small euchre in her home.

Auction sale bills are printed promptly and at low price by Era printers.

SEND 56 CHRISTMAS BOXES TO BOYS OVERSEAS

Fifty-six boxes were packed and mailed on Monday for Newmarket boys overseas. The boxes were sent by the Newmarket Veterans Soldiers' Comforts fund and were packed by the war work committee of the Newmarket Women's Institute.

Mrs. Max Smith and Mrs. E. H. Adams are the joint chairmen of this committee and were assisted by Mrs. T. Watson, Mrs. Ed. Brainer, Mrs. Wm. Robinson, Mrs. Alex. Hughton and Miss Stella Cook. The knitted articles in the boxes were supplied by the Institute.

Each box included the following articles: two pairs of socks, one handkerchief, two packages of razor blades, one pair of shoe-laces, one shaving stick, one package of biscuits, one cake, one package of peppermint candies, one package of dates, one lb. of malted chocolate, one tin of peaches, one tin of butter, one tin of peanut butter, two packages of chewing gum and a Christmas card from the veterans.

ANTICIPATED

It is said that when Elgar, the noted English composer, made his first appearance at school he unwittingly conferred upon himself the title which he was not to receive officially until many years later.

Asked by the school master to state his name, the lad answered simply, "Edward Elgar."

"Add the word 'Sir,'" the master demanded brusquely. With every manifestation of pride and pleasure, the lad resoundingly replied, "Sir Edward Elgar."

Double Ceiling For Prices

THE VERY generalized announcements made by the prime minister and other government spokesmen on the new effort to prevent inflation cover so wide a field that much study will be necessary before their full nature will be clear.

BUT ONE SUSPICION which these announcements raise is that farm prices and farm producers are going to continue to receive a different kind of treatment from city prices and city producers.

IT IS POSSIBLE that conditions of farm production differ so much from those of factory production that a different basis is needed on which to build sound price regulation. But that does not mean that city workers and manufacturers should be given a higher "ceiling" than farmers.

WE ALL KNOW that a double ceiling is an efficient means of keeping a room warm in winter and cool in summer but we suggest to the government that farmers do not want any such double "ceiling" in these economic measures.

WE SUGGEST, in fact, that a double "ceiling" for Canada with farmers getting the lower one, must be avoided, and that it can be avoided very easily by the exercise of a little courage and wisdom.

WHATEVER the builder may say about double ceilings, our leaders, practical politicians all of them, must know that a double "ceiling" for farm and factory prices will not bring the even temperature they desire, but will make the temperature a great deal chillier than they like—or a great deal hotter!
